Milk Producers Allowed Increase

25 Per Cent Price Boost Will Not Affect the Consumers in Area

"In order to insure an adequate supply of milk to the Kingston area," the regional office of the O.P.A. has announced an increase of 25 cents per hundredweight in the price of milk paid to producers in the Kingston area.

The increase in price to the producer will not affect the retail price and will not affect the New York City market, O.P.A. said.

For some time milk dealers have been faced with a local shortage which it was claimed was due to the higher price which producers could get for milk if shipped outside the local area. The present increase was ordered to insure an adequate milk supply in this area. A prior 25 cents per hundredweight increase in the price of milk paid producers in Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam and Rockland counties had the effect, the O.P.A. said, of diverting milk from Ulster county, Kingston milk dealers thereby suffering a loss of their local supply. The increased price was announced on Friday.

Disagree With O.P.A.
Local milk dealers however disagree with the opinion of the O.P.A. that the 25 cents per hundredweight increase will in any way relieve the local situation. In fact one man who is fully acquainted with the situation told a Freeman reporter today that he feared the 25 cent increase would only aggravate the situation since it will cut down the dealers' profit, which now is too small.

December members of the Kingston Milk Producers' Association and the Kingston Milk Council petitioned the O.P.A. to grant increases both to the producers locally and the retailers in order to relieve the situation. It was felt then that if the price to the producers was increased it would stimulate production of milk in this area and overcome some of the increased cost of feed and labor which goes into the making of milk.

An increase in production of milk would result, it was felt, and through an increase in the retail price of milk the dealers would be able to pay this increased cost of milk which they purchased from local creameries and still have sufficient profit to operate. The increase asked at that time was 94 cents per hundredweight to the producer and 2 cents per quart to the retailer.

The increase which has been granted the producer by O.P.A. amounts to approximately 1/2-cent per quart and is not passed on to the consumer.

Won't Help They Say

"This 25 cents per hundredweight increase to the producer at this time will mean little to the producer, probably will not stimulate production at all and will certainly aggravate the retail situation," a representative of the milk trade stated.

It was pointed out that when Kingston dealers began to experience a shortage of milk last fall, in order to retain their trade and supply it, they were forced to buy milk from creameries at 104 cents per quart in cans. Some of this milk was bought at Kyserville and Accord. This milk then had to be pasteurized, bottled and delivered and the wholesale price at stores was 13 cents per quart, a spread of only 2 1/4 cents for processing and delivery. Retail at 15 cents per quart. A driver gets $5 or $6 a day and delivers around 300 quarts per day, a cost of about $2 per quart for delivery.

Communists Will Take City Easily, Is View, Since It Has No Garrison

(By The Associated Press)

Chinese government officials in Harbin, frightened at the prospect of capture by Communist forces—a fate that presumably befell their fellows in Chungchun—fled by plane today to government-controlled Mukden.

Simultaneously, an official spokesman in Chungking conceded that the Communists could take Harbin without a struggle after Russian troops withdrew from that important North Manchuria city next Friday. He said the government has no troops there. The Communists dominate North Manchuria.

He also made the startling acknowledgment that National troops have not captured Szepingkai—despite previous claims—reluctantly reported the fall of Changchun, the capital of Manchuria.

In fact, said the spokesman, the Central Manchuria situation "is very grave" from the government viewpoint. He gave this explanation of the battle for Szepingkai, important railroad center about halfway between government-controlled Mukden and Changchun: A vanguard of the government's new First Army entered Szepingkai, met strong Communist resistance, and halted to consolidate its forces.

An official dispatch published in Peiping said 50 government officials had been taken prisoner in Szepingkai by the Communists. It was the withdrawal of Russia's last occupation troops from Changchun last Sunday midnight that precipitated the Communists' Continued on Page Two

Japanese Ex-Army Officers Form Groups, Hide Arms

Tokyo, April 20 (AP)—Many former Japanese army officers are forming groups, some on government-subsidized farms, and secreting supplies in the obvious hope of one day regaining power.

This I learned from reliable sources—Japanese, Allied nationals and American occupation officials—during a careful investigation of more than two months.

American officials, rather than looking upon it with undue alarm, see in the situation a naturally expected one. In many instances, the identities and locations of the groups are known. They are being watched.

"To date there has been no evidence of any subversion on any extensive scale," said an authoritative source at General MacArthur's headquarters.

Former Major Robert D. Kirk, of Houston, Tex., safety officer since deactivated and back in civilian life in the United States as an attorney, gave the information and the contracts which started the survey.

Much of the evidence cannot be divulged now for obvious reasons.

But here are some of the findings: On so-called "cooperative farms," Japanese army officers are well equipped with vehicles, maintain formal rank, are well financed and are on guard for snoopers.

At the nation's capital, 16 states are expected to be represented at a program in the amphitheatre in Arlington National Cemetery, while other sunrise services will be held at Fort Lincoln Heights, at Walter Reed Hospital and on the steps of the George Washington Memorial.

Worshippers will gather on a seaway at Corpus Christi, Texas, and speakers and choruses will arrive by boat.

The embankment of the huge Denison Dam will be the scene of services in that Texas city, while Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will speak at Texas A. and M. College at College Station.

Fifteen miles northwest of Lawton, Okla., in the Holy City of the Wichita mountains, 150,000 persons are expected to watch a sunrise pageant in which a cast of more than 1,000 will depict the life, crucifixion, and resurrection.

U.S. Orders 25 Per Cent Cut in Domestic Flour Consumption; Truman Requests Self-Rationing of Food in Household

Kingston Will Get First Peace-Time Easter in 5 Years

Sunny Skies, Moderate Temperature Are Forecast; Special Services Listed

The first peace-time Easter in Kingston in five years will be something to celebrate Sunday.

The weatherman's predictions that the skies will be fair and temperatures moderate make an ideal setting for the annual Easter parade.

A traditionally reverent and joyous occasion, Easter Sunday this year will be celebrated without the stigma of war. Peace has returned to the world and a grateful mankind will mark the birth of a new era for humanity.

Church attendance in Kingston throughout the week reached an all-time high. A thankful populace mindful of the fact that a year ago our armies were still locked in a titanic struggle with Nazi Germany is celebrating the advent of peace by attending church services in overwhelming numbers. Good Friday services last night resulted in overflow attendance at many churches.

Record breaking throngs are expected at all local church services. Special Easter music and programs, the sunrise services and carefully prepared sermons will combine to make Easter 1946 one of the most memorable in history.

Virtually all churches report large numbers of new members who will affiliate with the various congregations. Special services have been planned to welcome these worshippers into the fold.

25 Marriages Scheduled

Dan Cupid will enjoy a Roman holiday over the week-end with a total of 25 marriages scheduled for the area. This is the largest number ever reported in one week-end in local history.

Many of the nuptials involve discharged veterans who have been waiting for this joyous occasion to join the ranks of beneficiaries.

Madame may blossom out in full finery without worrying about the weather. At least that's what the weatherman said. Sunday should be fair with considerable sunshine and a little wind, with temperatures no lower than the sixties, according to the Weather Bureau.

Easter fineries have not been as scarce as during the past four war years and the availability of some of the niceties of wearing apparel was reflected in the heavy shopping throngs that turned out in the uptown shopping district last night. Wall street and surrounding area took on the atmosphere of a typical peace-time Christmas Eve shopping rush.

Merchants reported a heavy rush on whatever goods were available.

Monsieur may be sporting a better looking suit than he did in 1945 and hundreds of thousands will have shed the Army O.D.'s in the interim. The clothing situation is still tight for some sizes, but nearly every veteran has been able to find a suit that will stand him in good stead in Sunday's fashion parade.

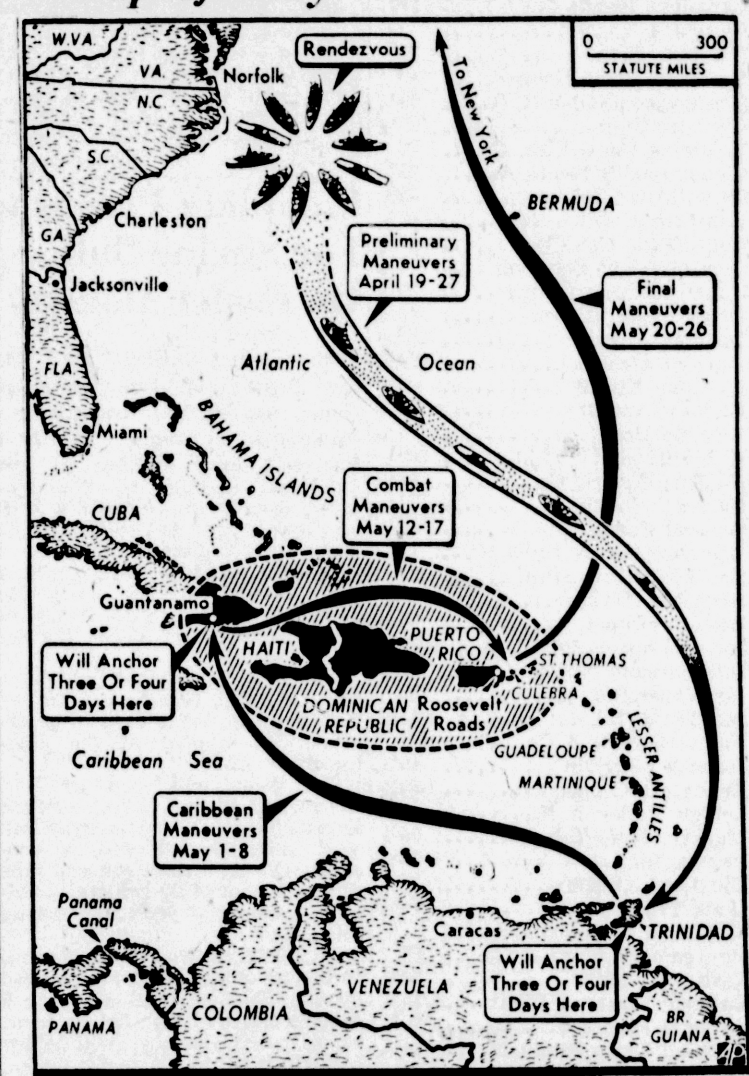

Incoming traffic was reported heavy last night by local bus lines and the West Shore railroad. The flow of traffic is expected to reach a peak by tonight. The chief difference between 1945 and 1946, of course, is the makeup of the passengers. Whereas in 1945, servicemen constituted about 65 per cent of the passengers, about 95 per cent of the travelers this year are civilians. Traffic is up 15 per cent over 1945 levels according to the New York Central.

French Cabinet Faces Crisis Over New Constitution

Leftist Proposal Would Establish Powerful One-Chamber Type Government

By JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, April 20 (AP)—The French cabinet faced a serious crisis today following approval by the constituent assembly last night of a new Leftist-sponsored constitution which would establish a powerful one-chamber legislature.

The constitution for the fourth republic was adopted by a vote of 309 to 249, over the objection of Rightist parties, including the strong popular Republican movement (M.R.P.) and the radical Socialists. It will be submitted to the electorate at a national referendum May 5.

Observers said the assembly's action was almost certain to result in a bitter campaign over France's organic law, and might split the coalition government at a cabinet meeting next Wednesday, when President Felix Gouin will ask his ministers to endorse the constitution.

Some sources predicted that such a request might lead to a resignation of Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and other Rightist members of the cabinet, now composed of Communists, Socialists and members of M.R.P.

The assembly, which was elected last October for the specific job of drafting a constitution, approved the final draft after a series of compromises had failed to please either the Communist-Socialist bloc, which supported the new document, or the Rightists.

President Gouin, a Socialist, took the floor shortly before adjournment and urged ratification of the constitution.

The Rightists asserted that the proposed constitution granted excessive power to the single-house Parliament. They insisted on a stronger chief executive, a second legislative chamber and a Supreme Court with powers comparable to those of the U. S. court. The M.R.P., reflecting the views of former President Charles de Gaulle, said a system of checks and balances was needed to avoid dictatorship.

'Childless' Bill Is Signed

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—A bill prohibiting landlords from requiring that tenants agree to remain childless during the terms of their leases was signed today by Governor Dewey. The measure makes it a misdemeanor for the owner or person in charge of a dwelling to include such a clause in a lease. Assemblyman Lewis D. Olliffe, Brooklyn Republican, introduced the bill.

Army Trials Sent 142 G.I.'s to Deaths; Overhaul Sought

Sub-Committee Has Long, Sharp Report About 'Injustices' by Tribunals

Washington, April 20 (AP)—Court martial sentences sent 142 soldiers to their deaths during the war years and ensuing months, a House Military Sub-committee disclosed today in recommending an extensive overhaul for the Army's system of justice.

The group reported that in the period between December 7, 1941 and February 22, 1946, 72 men were executed for murder, 51 for rape, 18 for murder and rape, and one for desertion.

The findings were set forth in a 25,000-word document sharply critical of what the subcommittee called the injustices, the extreme severity of sentences and the partiality resulting from the existing court martial system.

The full military committee, it was learned today, has temporarily tabled the subcommittee's report at the War Department's request, but will consider it next month. Army witnesses probably will be heard before the full committee takes any formal action.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Carl Durham (D-N.C.), made the following criticisms, comments and recommendations in the course of its report:

"The court martial system is regarded by most professional officers as a means of enforcing discipline . . . (but) discipline x x x must not be named as cloak to cover arbitrariness and injustice."

"There is a widespread belief among intelligent soldiers that x x x not so much a qualified as a weak and complaint court has been the objective."

"Racket" Is Cited
"Bringing charges of rape against American soldiers became a sort of racket among some portions of the populace in the European theatre, and it is believed that numerous convictions of innocent soldiers took place x x x in the interest of discipline in general or of maintaining the good name of the army among liberated or conquered people."

"Members of courts martial are largely amateurs from the legal point of view, though they may pass on questions of life and death."

"It is known that some of the most striking miscarriages of justice have taken place abroad x x x."

"An enlisted man has the right to bring charges against a commissioned officer. This is largely a paper provision. An officer of long experience x x x has said that x x x when it did happen the enlisted man always found himself court-martialed or transferred."

"It is a very grave offense for an enlisted man to strike an officer or even a noncommissioned officer. . . it is not a specific offense under any Article of War for an officer to assault an enlisted man x x x."

"Many Excessive Sentences"
"There have been many excessive sentences . . . the most tragic of course, are the death sentences not commuted, about which it is so difficult to obtain information . . . army courts in Europe adjudged two sentences to life imprisonment for A.W.O.L. (absence without leave). Hundreds, probably thousands of bewildered boys with no really disloyal intentions were sentenced to five years imprisonment for absence without leave . . . it is the opinion of"

President Says Nation Faces Greatest Threat of Mass Starvation in History

Plan Is Announced

Six-Point Program Is Started to Give More for Export

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The United States opened an intensive new attack on the global food crisis today, ordering a 25 per cent slash in domestic flour consumption and calling for even more vigorous self-rationing of food in American homes.

The emergency, President Truman revealed, has become so acute that this country's already low wheat reserves are going to be cut even further to furnish famine relief.

Mr. Truman somberly told the nation it confronted "the greatest threat of mass starvation in the history of mankind."

"Millions will surely die unless we eat less," he said in a plea to "the warm heart of America" for greater voluntary food conservation by the people.

The flour consumption cut was a direct step toward helping the country supply famine-stricken areas with a million tons of wheat monthly—the target set by the President for the next three months. The reduction order is effective at midnight tomorrow and will continue in effect until June 30.

Agriculture Department officials estimate that the flour cut will yield the equivalent of 25,000,000 bushels of wheat in the period. Mr. Truman summoned the nation to redoubled famine relief efforts in a nationwide all-network radio broadcast last night. He was joined on the program by former President Herbert Hoover, speaking from Egypt. U.N.R.R.A. Director General Fiorella La Guardia and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson.

Reduction Is Announced
It was Anderson who announced the flour reduction order as part of a six-point administration program to provide more food for export. Other points:

A government bonus to farmers of 30 cents a bushel for wheat delivered up to May 25—an inducement aimed at siphoning upwards of 160,000,000 bushels of wheat from farm storage.

A like bonus per bushel to farmers for 50,000,000 bushels of corn, to be resold to feeders and processors in urgent need.

A government offer to buy an unlimited amount of oatmeal for starvation areas.

A 25 per cent cut in the amount of wheat used by food manufacturers in products for domestic human consumption.

A reduction in the wheat inventories of millers and food manufacturers to not more than 21 days.

LaGuardia appealed "desperately" to farmers to supply the needed wheat fast for shipment to lands where "people are dying."

Former President Hoover, recommended an export target of 1,100,000 tons of wheat monthly, recommended that the government resort to wartime measures providing for mandatory set-asides of food.

Hoover reported on the dire food situation he had found in Europe and the Middle-East on his survey inspection trip undertaken at Mr. Truman's request. Hoover is honorary chairman of the Famine Emergency Committee.

The United States, he said, will have to shoulder a big part of the load in providing relief supplies, but he called upon Britain, Russia and Latin America: nations to do their full share.

Says Crisis Is Unique
He termed the crisis unique because it was a "definite terminal date—the arrival of the next harvest."

"If every source of supplies will do its utmost," he continued, "we can pull the world through this most dangerous crisis, x x x." Mr. Truman described America's relief responsibilities as "a solemn obligation," and again urged people to go on a European diet two days a week—a diet which yields less than half the calories that the average American meals provide daily.

"We would all be better off, physically and spiritually if we ate less," he repeated.

"Again I strongly urge all Americans to save bread and to conserve oils and fats. These are the most essential weapons at our disposal to fight famine abroad. Every slice of bread, every ounce of fat and oil saved by your volun-

Milk Producers Allowed Increase

25 Per Cent Price Boost Will Not Affect the Consumers in Area

"In order to insure an adequate supply of milk to the Kingston area," the regional office of the O.P.A. has announced an increase of 25 cents per hundredweight in the price of milk paid to producers in the Kingston area.

The increase in price to the producer will not affect the retail price and will not affect the New York City market, O.P.A. said.

For some time milk dealers have been faced with a local shortage which it was claimed was due to the higher price which producers could get for milk if shipped outside the local area. The present increase was ordered to insure an adequate milk supply in this area.

A prior 25 cents per hundredweight increase in the price of milk paid producers in Columbia, Dutchess, Orange, Putnam and Rockland counties had the effect, the O.P.A. said, of diverting milk from Ulster county, Kingston milk dealers thereby suffering a loss of their local supply. The increased price was announced on Friday.

Disagree With O.P.A.

Local milk dealers however disagree with the opinion of the O.P.A. that the 25 cents per hundredweight increase will in any way relieve the local situation. In fact one man who is fully acquainted with the situation told a Freeman reporter today that he feared the 25 cent increase would only aggravate the situation since it will cut down the dealers' profit, which now is too small.

In December members of the Kingston Milk Producers' Association and the Kingston Milk Council petitioned the O.P.A. to grant increases both to the producers locally and the retailers in order to relieve the situation. It was felt then that if the price to the producers was increased it would stimulate production of milk in this area and overcome some of the increased cost of feed and labor which goes into the making of milk.

An increase in production of milk would result, it was felt, and through an increase in the retail price of milk the dealers would be able to pay this increased cost of milk which they purchased from local creameries and still have sufficient profit to operate. The increase asked at that time was 94 cents per hundredweight to the producer and 2 cents per quart to the retailer.

The increase which has been granted the producer by O.P.A. amounts to approximately 42-cent per quart and is not passed on to the consumer.

Won't Help They Say

"This 25 cents per hundredweight increase to the producer at this time will mean little to the producer, probably will not stimulate production at all and will certainly aggravate the retail situation," a representative of the milk trade stated.

It was pointed out that when Kingston dealers began to experience a shortage of milk last fall, in order to retain their trade and supply it, they were forced to buy milk from creameries at 10 1/2 cents per quart in cans. Some of this milk was bought at Kyserick and Accord. This milk then had to be pasteurized, bottled and delivered and the wholesale price at stores was 13 cents per quart. A spread of only 2 1/2 cents for processing and delivery. Retailer at the house of customers it sold for 15 cents per quart. A driver gets 50¢ a day and delivers around 300 quarts per day, a cost of about 82 per quart for delivery.

Russian Rebuff, Franco Probe Seen Up in U.N. Agenda

Australian Plan Gains Strength for Review of Spain; Censorship Causes Concern

New York, April 20 (AP)—The United Nations Security Council begins its second month of deliberations next week with the prospect that Russia's demand for dismissal of the Iranian case will be rebuffed and that Franco Spain may be investigated by a Council subcommittee.

The Iranian issue comes up first when the Council meets at 3 p.m. (E.S.T.) Tuesday to review a report from its committee of experts on procedure, who told the Council they were split, 8 to 3, over the Iranian case on lines identical with those around the Council table.

An Australian proposal for appointment of a five-member subcommittee to conduct a four-week investigation of the Franco regime inside Spain gained strength, meanwhile, with Poland, author of the charges against Spain, reported ready to back such an inquiry.

Russia, Poland and France were the minority dissenters in the experts' report which ruled that the Council had authority to keep the Iranian case on its agenda as long as it desired, despite the fact that Iran has withdrawn her complaint against Russia.

United States Senators in private conference with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes in Washington yesterday got the impression that Byrnes and other American policy-makers believed the U.N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie, overstepped his authority in suggesting early this week that the Council's jurisdiction in any case ceased with the withdrawal of the complaint.

The American and British leadership against Russia's demand for dropping the Iranian case has a clear majority of Council votes to keep the matter on the agenda pending re-examination on May 6 of the status of Red Army evacuations from Iran.

E. F. Flanagan Denies Quitting Police Board

Nobody Knows What Date Means in Berlin

By LOUIS L. LOEWEN

Berlin, April 20 (AP)—All morning I accosted German residents of this battered capital, asking them what today stood for, and invariably I got a vacant stare.

I told them it was the 57th anniversary of the birth of Adolf Hitler. Most Berliners dismissed the information with a shrug.

"We ceased observing the day a year ago," a chauffeur said. "The battle of Berlin was then in full swing and only four days later the Russians marched in. I didn't see a single flag displayed a year ago in honor of the birthday. Everybody was too much occupied with the Russian advance to think about it."

Dewey Rejects Bill Fixing Firemen's Hours as Violation

'Childless' Bill Is Signed

Albany, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—Governor Dewey rejected today as a "violation of home rule" a bill which would have fixed the maximum working period of firemen at 120 hours in 14 days.

Declaring in his veto memorandum that "every citizen in the state now has full power to meet the terms of this bill," Dewey added that "for the state to force them to take such action is another violation of home rule and another financial burden which I do not believe we presently have a right to impose."

The measure also provided that firemen could not be required to work more than 14 hours in one day and that they must receive paid vacations of two weeks a year. Work in excess of these limits would have been permitted in emergencies.

Dewey noted that the bill had been opposed "vigorously" by the State Conference of Mayors and by Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York.

The governor also disapproved a bill under which the state would have been permitted to grant up to $1,000 annually to a county for propagation and release of fish, birds and game. The county would have had to contribute an equal amount.

Dewey said the state's conservation program adequately provided for the bill's objective. He added that the extension of state aid to counties was not "urgently needed."

He signed a bill excluding from the constitutional tax limitation for the five fiscal years after January 1, 1947, all school taxes in Little Falls, 50 per cent of Lockport's school taxes, and 25 per cent of the same levies in Mount Vernon.

Army Trials Sent 142 G.I.'s to Deaths; Overhaul Sought

Sub-Committee Has Long, Sharp Report About 'Injustices' by Tribunals

Washington, April 20 (AP)—Court martial sentences sent 142 soldiers to their deaths during the war years and ensuing months, a House Military Sub-committee disclosed today in recommending an extensive overhaul for the Army's system of justice.

The group reported that in the period between December 7, 1941 and February 22, 1946, 72 men were executed for murder, 51 for rape, 18 for murder and rape, and one for desertion.

The findings were set forth in a 25,000-word document sharply critical of what the subcommittee called the injustices, the extreme severity of sentences and the partiality resulting from the existing court martial system.

The full military committee, it was learned today, has temporarily tabled the subcommittee's report at the War Department's request, but will consider it next month. Army witnesses probably will be heard before the full committee takes any formal action.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. Carl Durham (D-N.C.), made the following criticisms, comments and recommendations in the course of its report:

"The court martial system is regarded by most professional officers as a means of enforcing discipline . . . (but) discipline x x x must not be named as cloak to cover arbitrariness and injustice."

"There is a widespread belief among intelligent soldiers that x x x not so much a qualified as a 'court-martial' system has been the objective."

'Racket' Is Cited

"Bringing charges of rape against American soldiers became a sort of racket among some portions of the populace in the European theatre, and it is believed that numerous convictions of innocent soldiers took place x x x in the interest of discipline in general or of maintaining the good name of the army among liberated or conquered people."

"Members of courts martial are largely amateurs from the legal point of view, though they may be men of high character and sound judgment on questions of life and death."

"It is known that some of the most striking miscarriages of justice have taken place abroad x x x"

"An enlisted man has the right to bring charges against a commissioned officer. This is largely a paper provision. An officer of long experience x x x has said that x x x when it did happen the enlisted man always found himself court-martialed or transferred."

"It is a very grave offense for an enlisted man to strike an officer or even a noncommissioned officer . . . it is not a specific offense under any Article of War for an officer to assault an enlisted man x x x"

'Many Excessive Sentences'

"There have been many excessive sentences . . . the most tragic, of course, are the death sentences not commuted, about which it is so difficult to obtain information . . . army courts in Europe adjudged two sentences to life imprisonment for A.W.O.L. (absence without leave). Hundreds, probably thousands of bewildered boys with no really disloyal intentions were sentenced to five years imprisonment for absence without leave . . . it is the opinion of . . ."

President Says Nation Faces Greatest Threat of Mass Starvation in History

Plan Is Announced

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The United States opened an intensive new attack on the global food crisis today, ordering a 25 per cent slash in domestic flour consumption and calling for even more vigorous self-rationing of food in American homes.

Six-Point Program Is Started to Give More for Export

The emergency, President Truman revealed, has become so acute that this country's already low wheat reserves are going to be cut even further to furnish famine relief.

Mr. Truman solemnly told the nation it confronted "the greatest threat of mass starvation in the history of mankind."

"Millions will surely die unless we eat less," he said in a plea to "the warm heart of America" for greater voluntary food conservation by the people.

The flour consumption cut was a direct step toward helping the country supply famine-stricken areas with a million tons of wheat monthly—the target set by the President for the next three months. The reduction order is effective at midnight tomorrow and will continue in effect until June 30.

Reduction Is Announced

It was Anderson who announced the flour reduction order as part of a six-point administration program to provide more food for export. Other points:

A government bonus to farmers of 30 cents a bushel for wheat delivered up to May 25—an inducement aimed at shoring up the crop of 180,000,000 bushels of wheat from farm storage.

A like bonus per bushel to farmers for 50,000,000 bushels of corn, to be resold to feeders and processors in urgent need.

A government offer to buy an unlimited amount of oatmeal for starvation areas.

A 25 per cent cut in the amount of wheat used by food manufacturers in products for domestic human consumption.

A reduction in the wheat inventories of millers and food manufacturers to not more than 21 days.

LaGuardia appealed "desperately" to farmers to supply the needed wheat fast for shipment to lands where "people are dying."

Former President Hoover Recommended an Export Target of 1,100,000 Tons of Wheat Monthly

Hoover recommended that the government resort to wartime measures providing for mandatory set-asides of food.

Hoover reported on the dire food situation he has found in Europe and the Middle-East on his survey inspection trip undertaken at Mr. Truman's request. Hoover is honorary chairman of the Famine Emergency Committee.

The United States, he said, will have to shoulder a big part of the load in providing relief supplies, but he called upon Britain, Russia and Latin America: nations to do their full share.

Says Crisis Is Unique

He termed the crisis unique because it was a "definite terminal date—the arrival of the next harvest."

"If every source of supplies will do its utmost," he continued, "we can pull the world through this most dangerous crisis, x x x"

Mr. Truman described America's relief responsibilities as "a solemn obligation," and again urged people to go on a European diet two days a week—a diet which yields less than half the calories that the average American meals provide daily.

"We would all be better off, physically and spiritually if we ate less," he repeated.

"Again I strongly urge all Americans to save bread and to conserve oils and fats. These are the most essential weapons at our disposal to fight famine abroad. Every slice of bread, every ounce of fat and oil saved by your vol-

Cost of Homes Jumps

Washington, April 20 (AP)—The cost of low-priced homes has jumped an average of 65.1 per cent since 1940, the National Housing Agency, reported today, blaming real estate inflation. Such dwellings—those which sold for $6,000 or less in 1940—have "skyrocketed" an average of 96.3 per cent in the Pacific coast states, the agency said in releasing findings of a survey completed a fortnight ago. "Real estate inflation has hit all sections of the country, but the northeastern section—stretching from Maine to Wisconsin—has had price increases that are slightly below the national average," N.H.A. said.

competent observers that army sentences generally err on the side of severity.

"Many, probably most, of the long terms of confinement x x x are not served out in their entirety. Harsh sentences are often not what they seem.

"Among the subcommittee's recommendations were these:

"That if the army be given a judicial department 'as complete and autonomous in its field' as is the medical department; that it be fully manned with qualified personnel to serve as members of courts-martial and as defense counsel.

"That no provision be made for reversal of injustices.

"That in trials of enlisted men, if the accused requests, one-third of the court members shall be enlisted men chosen from organizations not under jurisdiction of the accused officer.

"That a table of maximum punishments be prescribed for all offenses and apply equally to officers and enlisted men.

"That the punishment for rape be the maximum punishment imposed by the civil law of the country in which the crime was committed. (The Articles of War make death or life imprisonment mandatory.)

"That defense counsel be given the right to procure witnesses 'on an equal basis with the prosecution.'

"That trials be open to the public and to military personnel.

tary sacrifice, will help keep starving peoples alive."

Secretary Anderson said the government's six-point program for increasing famine relief supplies was born "of dire necessity."

"These measures," he emphasized, "are not a substitute for voluntary conservation efforts."

"We must do still more."

Anderson disclosed that the government program has been adopted after consultations with the governments of Canada and Great Britain.

During the consultations, he said, it was indicated that countries will cooperate with the United States toward the "two common objectives of increasing total relief shipments of grain and giving priority to areas most urgently in need of special aid."

successful onslaught on the Manchurian capital.

Key Communications Center

Harbin, 150 air miles north of Changchun, is the key communications center for North Manchuria.

Associated Press Correspondent Spencer Davis learned of the flight of Harbin officials to government-controlled Mukden, 325 air miles to the south, at Sino-American truce headquarters in Peiping.

He said the Harbin officials fled "for reasons of environment"—fear of a repetition of Changchun's violence.

However, some Peiping sources told Davis they doubted that a conflict such as Changchun's would follow the Soviet evacuation, explaining that the Harbin mayor never had been supported by the Chinese government.

Davis said Sino-American headquarters had no word concerning seven Americans—five correspondents and two Army men—who went to Changchun last week to observe the Russian withdrawal. Headquarters assumed that Chinese government officials in Changchun were taken into custody by the Communists.

Request Is Made

In Chungking, General Marshall's headquarters said a request had been made through Communist channels for permission for the seven Americans to leave Changchun. The group was comprised of two Army men and five news correspondents, including one woman.

(The Chungking dispatch did not make clear whether Marshall's action meant he had word of the safety of the Americans.)

The government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek had no details of the occupation of Changchun. There had been no radio contact with the Manchurian capital since 6 p. m. Thursday.

The seven Americans were Maj. Robert Rigg of Chicago, assistant military attaché; M. Sgt. Clayton Pond of Portland, Ore., his pilot; Tom Masterson, Associated Press; Reynolds Packard, United Press; Charlotte Elbert, International News Service; George Weller, Chicago Daily News; and Henry R. Leiberman, New York Times.

Lending emphasis to the magnitude of Marshall's task of bringing the discordant sides together and ending China's civil strife, Nanking military sources who declined use of their names said the government was sending at least two new armies north.

Four Days Remain For Filing Letters On Bridge Measure

Governor Dewey Must Take Action by April 25; Sutliff Asks Interest

Asserting that prospects for Governor Dewey's approval of the Wicks-Hatfield bridge bill have been greatly enhanced by the endorsement of the State Board of Public Works, Roy Sutliff, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Publicity Committee, emphasized today that only four days remain in which to file letters or telegrams with the governor's office.

April 25 is the deadline for gubernatorial action on the measure. The governor can either sign or disapprove the measure, or let it expire via a pocket veto. The latter resource seems unlikely.

Reports from Albany yesterday indicated that the governor had disposed of more than 850 of the 1065 bills placed on his desk during the feverish last 10 days rush in the legislature.

"There is still enough time left to swamp the governor's office with communications," Sutliff said. "We fervently hope that every person interested in the bridge bill has sent a letter or telegram to the executive mansion."

Favorable Reaction

The endorsement of the Kingston-Rhincliff project announced recently by Charles H. Sells, superintendent of the Department of Public Works in Albany, was considered the most favorable reaction since local organizations launched a concerted effort to gain Governor Dewey's approval of the measure.

Efforts to arrange an interview with Governor Dewey on the proposal failed. Paul Lockwood, secretary to the chief executive, said the governor's office had been swamped by similar requests from other groups seeking passage of legislation.

Equally interested in the measure, Dutchess county residents have overwhelmed the governor's office with communications. Senator Hatfield, who co-authored the bill, has exerted heavy pressure in a vigorous campaign of letter writing.

wage alone without cost of equipment being figured.

For this reason it was believed the 25 cents now granted producers would have no marked effect on production and would probably aggravate the local situation since it will deprive the retailers of another 14-cent of profit.

Albert Kurdt, Ulster County Farm Bureau agent, when asked regarding the recent announcement that O.P.A. believed the butter situation would improve shortly, stated that the dairymen were not quite so optimistic. He pointed out that it took 12 quarts of 3.5 per cent milk to make a pound of butter and at the present price which producers were being paid for milk this made the cost of a pound of butter about $1.

Any slight increase in the price of butter would not, Mr. Kurdt felt, induce dairymen to produce butter under the present price of fluid milk with the supply of fluid milk short.

WELCOME HUSBAND PARTY

A soldier's wife asks: "What kind of party would you suggest to which seventy-five friends and relatives will be invited? This will be an occasion to celebrate my husband's homecoming from Europe as well as a belated wedding reception and a housewarming. Please include the wording of the invitations?"

The simplest answer to this is to write "Mr. and" in front of the Mrs. on your own card. On the line below say "Will be at home" and then the date and the hour below that. Or if you have Mr. and Mrs. cards, then underscore "Mr. and" in ink to emphasize his name. The party I suggest is merely an evening at home. You receive your friends who stand about or sit where they like and you serve light refreshments. These are put on the dining room table and people help themselves.

Writing Card to Send from Large Family

Dear Mrs. Post: I come from a large family and all of us are married and living in our own homes except one brother, who lives with mother and father. There are occasions when all of us contribute to a sum to be spent in buying a wedding present or flowers for a funeral. Accordingly we would like to make it clear they are from all of us. Mother has been writing "Mr. and Mrs. Blank and family." Judging by some of the thank-you notes in return, I am quite sure the present is assumed to be from mother and father and my unmarried brother living with them. Will you suggest wording to make the situation clear?

Answer: Mr. and Mrs. John Blank and their sons and daughters.

Her Head Must Be Covered

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a bride wear a hat if her wedding is being given at home and she is not leaving after the reception on a wedding trip? (Being a widow-bride, she can not wear a veil.)

Answer: She must wear a hat or a substitute for a hat during the ceremony. She may take it off for the reception if she likes.

For Commencement

Dear Mrs. Post: How long beforehand should the invitations to high school commencement be mailed? May the flaps be turned in and only half postage put on the envelope?

Answer: They are mailed as soon as they are issued by the school. It really would be shoddy to use half postage when you consider how few invitations each pupil is allowed to send.

"Conventional Party Menus" would bring many ideas to the busy hostess. For this leaflet, send a 3-cent stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by the Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Bruised Prisoners At Lichfield Hid From Inspectors

London, April 20 (AP)—Staff Sgt. James M. Jones, on trial on charges of mistreating soldier prisoners in the wartime stockade at Lichfield, England, told a military court today that prisoners marked with bruises from beatings by guards were "concealed" whenever army inspectors visited the prison camp.

Concluding testimony in the second trial involving cruelty charges at Lichfield, Jones—a 22-year-old soldier from Muskogee, Okla.—acknowledged that he hit prisoners with his fists and with clubs and said such practices by the guards "happened every day" on orders from superior officers.

Jones testified that on one occasion he took 19 men "with some kind of marks on them" to work on a coal dump after prison officers had been warned of an inspector general's impending visit to the camp.

He said a prison officer, Lt. Granville Cubage, of Oklahoma City, had told him to "get the prisoners out of the way." Cubage and five other officers face courts martial on charges arising from the Lichfield incidents.

Jones declared that Cubage issued orders "to get rough with the prisoners." Cubage testified earlier in the trial that such a policy was followed after he had a conference with the depot commander, Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill.

Jones pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery on the ground he was carrying out orders of his superiors. Final arguments by prosecution and defense counsel were to be heard by the court later in the day.

pority recommendation to the Council.

The American and British embassies meantime in Tehran, were concerned with reports that Iran had established censorship on outgoing news dispatches, a factor which some quarters felt might seriously interfere with dispassionate reports from independent observers.

The Iranian director of propaganda, Prince Mozaffar Firooz, denied yesterday that "any censorship whatsoever" had been placed on news dispatches from Iran, but said two dispatches of the Times of London correspondent in Tehran contained "fantastic stories and rumors" and were suppressed.

Conciliatory Turn Taken

The debate on Spain took a conciliatory turn at the end of two long sessions of debate when the Australian delegate, Lt.-Col. W. R. Hodgson proposed that the council delegate a five-man subcommittee to investigate and report back May 17 with the fullest possible documentation.

Approval of the Hodgson proposal would sidetrack Poland's demand for a collective rupture of diplomatic relations with Spain immediately, but it might have the effect of bringing the council to its closest approach to unanimity on any subject thus far.

It would also find the council in general agreement with Generalissimo Francisco Franco on some means to determine whether—as charged by Poland—Spain gives asylum to Nazi war criminals, threatens the French frontier and shelters an atomic arsenal.

France has invited inspection in Spain by five "friendly" nations on the council having relations with the government—plus addition which is not represented at Madrid. The five are the United States, Britain, The Netherlands, Brazil and Egypt.

HAPPY EASTER!

Easter is more than a ceremony, more than a festival. It is a time when Nature awakes, when all things are made new, when human beings suddenly arise and look up and around them, and suddenly realize after the long winter and slow spring that "God's in his heaven" and by that same token "all's right with the world."

That is, when men are sensitive and wise enough to yield to the spirit of Easter, which makes all things new, even as Nature does in her thousand ways. It is a time when God and Man and Nature seem to cooperate to make the best of possible worlds. Resting for a moment from trouble, toil and confusion people gain strength by entering into the spirit of new life and happiness. "This is the day which the Lord hath made; Let us rejoice and be glad therein!"

FOOD COLLECTION

The nationwide Emergency Food Collection on behalf of U.N.R.R.A. will be launched May 12. Raymond H. Rignall, who has been chairman of salvage of war materials and clothing collections here, will continue his services for the food drive in this city.

In the coming drive, we will be asked to share our food with the war victims overseas who have less than enough food to live on. The campaigns that brought us victory brought destruction to the lands where they were fought. Because of that, and because of the worst drought in a quarter of a century, their food production is lower this year than at any time during the war.

The canned food contributed to the Emergency Food Collection will be distributed on the basis of need, without discrimination of any kind and without cost to the recipient. Money contributed will be utilized only for the purchase of food. No deductions are made from contributions for operating costs.

National Chairman Henry A. Wallace says there is overwhelming evidence that the American people want to give direct and personal assistance to these victims of war. The Emergency Food Collection is the expression of that will in a practical action program.

We don't like to complain, but about this time of year Mother Nature can't seem to make up her mind about what time of the year it is.

CITY INCOME TAXES

Income taxes of any kind in this country are unpopular, and therefore interesting. Toledo, Ohio, has just approved of a one per cent payroll income tax by a slender majority—for the ordinance, 37,985 and against it, 32,682. It is estimated that the revenue derived from it will reach $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year. The funds will be used to liquidate or finance depression relief area debts, capital improvements, expanding fire and police and recreational facilities, and other city improvements. To pay for them, everybody living or working or doing business in the city will be obliged to pay the city one per cent of his earnings.

This seems to be a rather simple way for any city to raise money, for any desired purpose. Perhaps too simple. At any rate, many of the citizens think so. It is an open question whether it is a good thing for any city to have financial system which makes it easy to levy and collect money. Probably thrifty citizens anywhere will prefer to make it hard.

Never mind Ribbentrop saying we forced the war—he's just ribbing us.

FORBIDDEN BOOK

The issue of unified control of military services, so hotly debated a few weeks ago, has been revived again by a pre-publication war between an author, William Huie, and the Navy Department. Huie's book, "The Case Against the Admirals," to be brought out by E. P. Dutton & Co., was banned at the newsstands of a Washington hotel by the Navy Department in a 24-page protest claiming numerous errors. Mr. Huie, whose book is subtitled, "Why We Must Have Unified

LILIES IN OUR MEMORY

Of course, we shall wear our Easter bonnets and walk in the Easter parade, having been to Church to partake of the spirit of the day. The war is over and life goes on. In fact, even while the war was in course, the Easter parade on Fifth Avenue was gay and cheering. It is Spring and the flowers are beginning to bloom.

That is the story of man. Each generation lives its own resurrection. It dies a thousand deaths. It is always going to the dogs. It is never like the one that went before. Yet, man continues, hoping, dreaming, planning and plotting, marrying and creating new families. It is the resilience of the human race that makes it so marvelous. Hope springs eternal.

And the atomic bomb will change none of it. For man will adjust to atomic fission as he has adjusted to steam, electricity and electronics. Man split the atom and he will harness it. He will do with it what he has done with radium; he has taken the poisons of the vegetables and minerals and turned them into healing and life-giving properties.

Man is a miraculous creature, particularly in the Spring, when the spirit of the resurrection enters his soul. He can not only dream but he can make his dreams come true. He traverses the world through the air in what amounts to minutes of time as compared with other years because his mind, his reason, masters what the birds and beasts can only do by instinct. His work is the product of his thought.

Miracles! The world is filled with miracles. There is the miracle of streptomycin and the miracle of penicillin, of plastics, of the atom. And these miracles are not the things themselves but they are that man possesses mind and will. Today, having become spiritually poverty-stricken, we call the results of man's nobility and most miraculous inspirations, science, and set it apart as something without a soul.

Jesus said:
"For verily I say unto you, whosoever shall say unto this mountain, 'Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea,' and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses."

And that, of course, is the greatest miracle of all—the willingness of man to play fair, to be just, to forgive, even to forget. Without that we should be like beasts in the fields, one preying upon the other, clawing and chewing and hating endlessly without reason or right but because we pursue vicious instincts. It is the miracle of goodness that really saves the human race from its own banalities. It is the miracle of a moral life that frees us from the beastliness of a biologic life.

And that, of course, is what Easter has always really meant, for the story it tells is of goodness, of a life spent in goodness, that was lost, and resurrected for goodness. For it is good to be charitable, to help pity, to feed the hungry, to be generous to an ideal, to build hospitals and to care for the sick, the weary, and the miserable. And we do that—we Americans. We do it objectively, for those who are dear and near to us and for those who are distant and whom we may not even like. We do it for friend and foe. We are, in our hearts, a good people among our neighbors on Easter Day, in the friendly Spring sun, in good cheer, in the spirit of liberty and of decent living, not too sure of our virtue but certain of our intentions, a religious people in the sense that we walk not alone but with our God.

TUBERCULOSIS

Less than forty years ago tuberculosis stood first as a cause of death; today it is well down on the list among the causes of death. Today the death rate from tuberculosis is only one-seventh of what it was just thirty-five years ago. The reason for this is the vigorous fight the National Tuberculosis Association and other organizations have made to rid our and other countries of this "white plague."

The outstanding and gratifying point about this successful fight against tuberculosis is that the largest relative decreases in deaths from tuberculosis occurred in childhood and early life, which means that thousands who formerly died, now live and make their contributions to the world. For example among white males in the ages between 5 and 35 the drop in the death rate from tuberculosis was more than 90 per cent but at 65 to 74 years the decrease was 52 per cent.

Among the measures used to fight tuberculosis is the X-ray which, "provided a new and indispensable weapon in the fight against tuberculosis, one which laid the foundation for the present practice of finding cases through mass surveys." The number of unsuspected cases of tuberculosis found by mass surveys in the army—the choice of our population from the physical standpoint—means that many sinister institutions and whole communities are, and will continue giving an X-ray examination of the entire factory or community.

Just in case we may feel that the victory over tuberculosis is complete and we may tend to relax our efforts in fighting this disease we read in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company:

"The organized effort to control tuberculosis among American wage-earners and their families during the past thirty-five years has been eminently successful, but it is still far short of its goal which is the complete disappearance of tuberculosis from the earth."

Now that institutions and government health departments are equipped to find and treat tuberculosis anywhere and everywhere, complete victory over tuberculosis may not be long in coming.

The Common Cold

Never neglect the common cold as it may often be the forerunner of other more dangerous conditions. Send ten cents and a three cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing to The Bell Library, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for your copy of the Barton booklet entitled "The Common Cold."

Control," says he was urged to suppress it as a patriotic duty by Vice Admiral Arthur W. Bradford, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air. Instead, he says he will turn back all royalties and push the book's sale.

There is no better way of whetting public interest in any subject than by banning it. That "Case Against the Admirals" may become a best-seller. The idea of unified command has been given a recent boost by President Truman, and the idea that anyone wanted to ban a book about it is likely to inspire people to try to find out why.

STAMPS in the NEWS

AP Features

One of the most attractive sets of stamps to reach this country in some time is the Vatican City's new 14 bi-colored stamp set commemorating the 400th anniversary of the opening of the Council of Trent, important conclave of the Roman Catholic Church.

Opened in December, 1545, in the then Austrian city of Trent (now Trento), the Council was in session, with recesses of two to ten years intervening, until 1563. The Council fixed the faith and practice of the Roman church in relation to the Protestant Evangelical churches and introduced numerous reforms. The date and designation of the Council is inscribed on each of the stamps in Latin "Concilium Oecumenicum XIX Idibus Dec MDXLV Initium Tridenti" (19th Ecumenical Council Began December 1545 at Trent). Except for the five-cent stamp, which pictures the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore, scenes of most of the Council sessions, the stamps picture famous participants in the conference. The portraits are in oval baroque frames. Bands over them bear the names and titles of the personage. At the lower part of the frame is a coat of arms or the symbol of the subject's rank.

Values, colors and the personages pictured on these Vatican City stamps are: 25-c purple and brown, Saint Angela de Merici, who founded the Ursulines, a religious order; 50-c bistre and brown, St. Anthony Maria Zaccaria; 75-c black and brown, St. Ignatius of Loyola; 1-lira purple and brown, St. Cajetan of Thiene; 150-L red-orange and brown, St. John Baptist Cardinal Fisher, Bishop of Rochester; 2-L green and brown, Christopher Cardinal Madruzzo, Prince-Bishop of Trent; 250-L blue and brown, Reginald Cardinal Pole.

One of the first acts of a nation occupying land outside its borders is to issue postage stamps identifying the territory within its control. Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans followed tradition when they occupied the Italian city of Fiume in May, 1945. At least six stamps of the Mussolini-sponsored Italian Social Republic were immediately surcharged with Yugoslav symbols and new values. Illustrated here is one of the overprints which consists of the date "3 V 1945," the words "Fiume" and its Croatian equivalent, "Rueka," and a Partisan star over a rising sun.

Similar steps were taken by Marshal Tito's forces to provide appropriate stamps to mark their occupation of disputed Trieste and Istria. Walter and Walfredo Toscanini of New York report that 11 of the Mussolini republic stamps were overprinted "I. V. 1945 Trieste Trst" for use in Trieste and 14 were overprinted with the word "Istra" and new values for Istria.

The National Farm School in Bucks County, Pa., will mail 1,000 air mail covers between April 10 and 30 as part of its 50th anniversary program. Orders at 10 cents per cover may be addressed to the Treasurer, National Farm School, Farm School, Bucks County, Pa.

Easter Thoughts

One of the main features one observes seems to be the getting of new outfits in celebration of this significantly symbolic feast.

No out of date or shabby garments must be worn and up to the minute headgear are considered an absolute necessity to do justice to so solemn an occasion. So much for the outer man; but what about the inner man? Unless we lay aside with determination our old and truly shabby ideas in dealing with crucified humanity and replace them with nobler, broader thoughts, imperative for the existing sad and dangerous conditions, we shall add nothing to the upliftment of suffering humanity.

Only as we assist in the resurrecting of our fellowmen may we experience a definite sense of rising higher in the comprehension of the symbolic significance of Easter, the great event of love for all mankind.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

A petition signed by 53 of the merchants of North Front street asking that the name of the street be changed to Market street, was filed with the Common Council at its meeting August 2, 1927.

The filing of the petition caused considerable discussion among the aldermen, and it was finally tabled until a more suitable name than Market street could be selected.

The petition outlined four reasons why it was desired to change the name of the street. One was that other cities had Market streets, and why not this city; that the merchants had been spending large sums of money in improving their store properties; that the name North Front street really applied to a street bordering along a waterfront, or fronting some particular section, which it did not; and that changing the name would not work a hardship or injustice to any other business section in the city.

Some of the aldermen believed that as long as 53 merchants had petitioned to change the name of the street that the council should take some action in the matter. Others believed that Market street was too common a name, and if a change was desired that a more appropriate one be selected.

It was pointed out that North Front street was one of the historic streets of the city, and had received its name because it formed the extreme end of the stockade that was erected around the new village to protect the inhabitants from sudden attacks from the Indians.

Some of the aldermen who did not favor the change believed that the street's historic name, with all its significance in the history of the city, should be retained.

I don't recall offhand whether the petition was ever taken from the table or not, but I do know that the name of North Front street remains unchanged to this day.

John H. Harrison, who served as the first superintendent of the Kingston water department, filed his resignation with the Board of Water Commissioners at a board meeting on August 4, 1927.

The resignation was accepted and the late Henry D. Darrow was named to succeed Mr. Harrison. Mr. Harrison had been engaged in the water work system of the city for 40 years at the time he resigned. As a young man he went to work for the old private water company, which supplied the city with its water, and he continued with the water works when the city took them over and placed the jurisdiction of them in the hands of a Board of Water Commissioners.

It was on Wednesday, August 3, 1927, that President Coolidge issued his famous statement, "I do not choose to run for president in 1928" that set the whole country talking.

TODAY'S GARDEN-GRAPH

Don't Let Lilacs Lead Double Lives

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Released by Central Press Association

WHEN suckers start growing out from the rootstock, lilacs can be said to be leading double lives, and this should be curbed. The accompanying Garden-Graph shows shoots of privet that are commonly found at the root of lilacs that are left to shift for themselves.

These thorny suckers should be cut off as close to the root as possible. They spring from unimproved root stock and are very objectionable since they take strength from the bush which should go to making more and better flower heads.

When purchasing new lilac bushes, seek to obtain "own root" stock instead of that which has been budded or grafted on common lilac or privet. Also, lilacs should not be permitted to become too head strong. This means that when the flower heads of lilac bushes have faded they should be carefully cut off.

To allow lilacs to use their energy in forming seeds is a mistake, for this energy should be utilized to promote new growth for next year's blooms.

Care must be used, however, in "beheading" lilacs. The accompanying illustration shows the proper place to remove the dried-up flowers.

As shown by the arrow, nip off the dead lilac blooms just below the flower head.

From two to four new flower shoots will develop at the point where the old flower heads were cut off. These shoots will provide next year's blooms.

WELCOME HUSBAND PARTY

A soldier's wife asks: "What kind of party would you suggest to which seventy-five friends and relatives will be invited? This will be an occasion to celebrate my husband's homecoming from Europe as well as a belated wedding reception and a housewarming. Please include the wording of the invitations?"

The simplest answer to this is to write "Mr. and" in front of the line below say "Will be at home" and then the date and the hour below that. Or if you have Mr. and Mrs. cards, then underscore "Mr. and" in ink to emphasize his name. The party I suggest is merely an evening at home. You receive your friends who stand about or sit where they like and you serve light refreshments. These are put on the dining room table and people help themselves.

Writing Card to Send from Large Family

Dear Mrs. Post: I come from a large family and all of us are married and living in our own homes except one brother, who lives with mother and father. There are occasions when all of us contribute to a sum to be spent in buying a wedding present or flowers for a funeral. Accordingly we would like to make it clear they are from all of us. Mother has been writing "Mr. and Mrs. Blank and family." Judging by some of the thank-you notes in return, I am quite sure the present is assumed to be from mother and father and my unmarried brother living with them. Will you suggest wording to make the situation clear?

Answer: Mr. and Mrs. John Blank and their sons and daughters.

Her Head Must Be Covered

Dear Mrs. Post: Should a bride wear a hat if her wedding is being given at home and she is not leaving after the reception on a wedding trip? (Being a widow-bride, she can not wear a veil.)

Answer: She must wear a hat or a substitute for a hat during the ceremony. She may take it off for the reception if she likes.

For Commencement

Dear Mrs. Post: How long beforehand should the invitations to high school commencement be mailed? May the flaps be turned in and only half postage put on the envelope?

Answer: They are mailed as soon as they are issued by the school. It really would be shoddy to use half postage when you consider how few invitations each pupil is allowed to send.

Bruised Prisoners At Lichfield Hid From Inspectors

London, April 20 (AP)—Staff Sgt. James M. Jones, on trial on charges of mistreating soldier prisoners in the wartime stockade at Lichfield, England, told a military court today that prisoners marked with bruises from beatings by guards were "concealed" whenever army inspectors visited the prison camp.

Concluding testimony in the second trial involving cruelty charges at Lichfield, Jones—a 22-year-old soldier from Muskogee, Okla.—acknowledged that he hit prisoners with his fists and with clubs and said such practices by the guards "happened every day" on orders from superior officers.

Jones testified that on one occasion he took 19 men "with some kind of marks on them" to work on a coal dump after prison officers had been warned of an inspector general's impending visit to the camp.

He said a prison officer, Lt. Granville Cubage, of Oklahoma City, had told him to "get the prisoners out of the way." Cubage and five other officers face courts martial on charges arising from the Lichfield incidents.

Jones declared that Cubage issued orders "to get rough with repeaters." Cubage testified earlier in the trial that such a policy was followed after he had a conference with the depot commander, Col. James A. Kilian of Highland Park, Ill.

Jones pleaded not guilty to charges of assault and battery, on the ground he was carrying out orders of his superiors. Final arguments by prosecution and defense counsel were to be heard by the court later in the day.

pority recommendation to the Council.

The American and British embassies meantime in Tehran, were concerned with reports that Iran had established censorship on outgoing news dispatches, a factor which some quarters felt might seriously interfere with dispassionate reports from independent observers.

The Iranian director of propaganda, Prince Mozaffar Firooz, denied yesterday that "any censorship whatsoever" had been placed on news dispatches from Iran, but said two dispatches of the Times of London correspondent in Tehran contained "fantastic stories and rumors" and were suppressed.

Conciliatory Turn Taken

The debate on Spain took a conciliatory turn at the end of two long sessions of debate when the American delegate, Mr. W. A. Hodgson proposed that the council delegate a five-man subcommittee to investigate and report back May 17 with the fullest possible documentation.

Approval of the Hodgson proposal would sidetrack Poland's demand for a collective rupture of diplomatic relations with Spain immediately, but it might have the effect of bringing the council to its closest approach to unanimity on any subject this far.

He also said the council in general agreement with Generalissimo Francisco Franco on some means to determine whether—as charged by Poland—Spain gives asylum to Nazi war criminals, threatens the French frontier and shelters an atomic arsenal.

France has invited inspection in Spain by five "friendly" nations on the council having relations with his government—plus additional which is not represented at Madrid. The five are the United States, Britain, The Netherlands, Brazil and Egypt.

Federation Softball League Will Open Season Tuesday, May 7

Nine Churches Are Entered in Loop; First Since 1942

Edsil Flowers Again Head of Local Circuit; Keen Interest Is Voiced by Team Managers

With a field of nine clubs set to go, the first postwar Federation Softball League will get out from under the wire Tuesday evening, May 7, Edsil Flowers told The Freeman Thursday afternoon. "We're anticipating a lot of interest in this year's revival of the loop," Mr. Flowers declared "in view of the fact that this will be our first league competition since 1942."

The teams entered in this year's Federation League are First Presbyterians, Albany Avenue Baptist, Comforters, Trinity Lutheran, Port Ewen, St. James, Clinton Avenue, Fair Street and Congregational. At a recent meeting of the church circuit at which governing rules for play were discussed, interest was keen by all attending representatives.

Saints Defending Champs

The St. James softball aggregation is the defending loop champion from 1942 when the league was abandoned due to the influx of players going off to war. The return to pre-war rivalry is expected to bring back into the Federation League this summer with such strong clubs as the Presbyterians, Baptists, Comforters, Lutherans, Fair Street and Clinton Avenue in the fold with their war veterans holding down positions on the various combines.

Edsil Flowers, who is acting as commissioner again this season, said Thursday that the league will operate in two halves with the winner of the first half playing a series of three games with the winner of the second round for the season championship. The first round runs up until Thursday, July 4, when Trinity Lutheran and Congregational meet at Loughran Park and St. James engages the Presbyterians at Barmann Park.

Starting time of all games in the league has been set for 6:30 o'clock with a leeway of 15 minutes. If the game hasn't started by 6:45 o'clock a forfeit will result.

Washington Pitching Staff Early-Season Disappointment

Nats Use 14 Assorted Hurlers in 4 Games to Date, All in Loss Column

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Washington's vaunted pitching staff which kept the 1945 Senators in the pennant race until the final day and which was expected to be the team's most potent weapon this year, has turned out to be one of the biggest early-season disappointments of the current campaign.

No Complete Games

Because of the return from military service of such former standouts as Sid Hudson, Walter Masterson and Rae Scarborough to aid holdovers Roger Wolff, a 20-game winner last year, Dutch Leonard, who won 17 games, Mickey Haefer and Marino Pieretti, 16 and 14 game winners respectively, the capital city hurling corps was rated even stronger this year than last. But it not only has failed to produce a winning pitcher in each of the team's four games played to date, it hasn't even completed a game to its credit.

Wolff and Scarborough have managed to stagger through seven rounds, but Masterson and Haefer, the other two starters, each has failed to last more than two frames. In all, Manager Ossie Bluege has been forced to call upon 14 assorted tossers, who in four games have been shelled for 46 hits, 20 of them for extra bases, and have given up 25 walks, an average of more than six per game.

54,826 See Yanks Win
Yesterday's game against the New York Yankees, the day's only scheduled contest, was a perfect example. With a crowd of 54,826 fans looking on in the refurbished Yankee Stadium, five Washington hurlers helped the Bronx Bombers make a successful home debut by issuing five passes, hitting two batters, making a wild pitch and yielding a dozen safe blows good for 18 total bases. The net result was a Yankee victory by a 7-6 margin, the New Yorkers had tied off in a six-inning game with a 3-0 lead when Johnny Lindell scored Tommy Henrich with a long fly ball after Joe DiMaggio had tied the score with a run-scoring double. Haefer started on the mound for the Nats but was derailed at the end of the second after the Yankees had tied off on his south-paw slants for six hits and four runs in the second frame. DiMaggio's double and Lindell's second homer in two days were the most damaging blows.

Leonard Goes Today

Masterson held the Yanks to only one run in the next four stanzas and was followed on the hill by Pieretti, Vern Curtis and Johnny Niggeling in that order, with Niggeling being charged with the defeat. The Nats had waged a stubborn uphill battle which finally put them ahead 5-4 in the eighth when they combined two hits, a pair of walks and an error by Yankee Catcher Bill Dickey for two runs.

In Track Debut

Arcadia, Calif., April 20 (AP)—L. K. Shapiro's Adios, the 1945 all-aged pacing champion, makes his debut today in Santa Anita's first Saturday program of harness racing. Adios goes in a six-furlong free-for-all with a $3,000 purse, against such notables as King's Counsel, Brown Prince, Victory, Purdue, Cisco and Guy.

Better Golf

By SAM SNEAD

A former major league star in the category of such luminaries as Babe Ruth, Jimmy Foxx or Tris Speaker will be asked to head the newly-formed American Baseball Guild, which aims to unionize the nation's professional baseball players, it was learned this morning.

Robert Murphy, labor relations adviser of the organization, told reporters that men such as those would be sought for the presidency "because they already have the respect of players, club executives and fans and because they would have knowledge of the wrongs that need correcting."

"Management almost always has refused to recognize labor at the outset. But actually our organization would help the clubs as well as the players. For example, we have just seen a lot of good players go over to the Mexican League. If they had been satisfied they naturally would have remained in the United States."

Braves Peddle McCarthy

Boston, April 20 (AP)—The outright sale of first baseman Johnny McCarthy to the Minneapolis American Association club was announced today by General Manager John Quinn of the Boston Braves. McCarthy, a 304-batting regular when he entered the service in 1943, became expendable when the Braves obtained Ray Sanders from the St. Louis Cardinals. The latter will make his first start with the Tribesmen against the Phillies today in Philadelphia.

Getting Stadium Ready for Season

With the opening of the 1946 baseball season only a matter of weeks away for local ball clubs, "Chuck" Davis, veteran groundskeeper, and Johnny Tomshaw have been getting the municipal stadium into shape for the last few weeks. Thursday the two city workers were busily engaged in getting the field's mound in shape, one part of the diamond which will be seeing plenty of action this summer. In the above photo Davis is shown in the roller while Tomshaw is seen lining off the tape on the pitcher's box. Extensive work already has been done on the stadium infield and outfield grass and according to Davis, the uptown ball orchard is just about ready for local athletes to take over. The Kingston High School baseball team is due to open its training at the stadium Monday afternoon. (Freeman Photo).

Kites Get Test for Coming Meet

Boys from the Barmann Park section gave their homemade kites a last minute test Friday afternoon in preparation for the coming Kite Flying Meet which is scheduled for the municipal stadium Saturday, April 27. In the above photo some of the boys are shown who could get their kites down long enough to have their picture taken by The Freeman photographer. In the front row in the usual order are Charles Parks, Donald Havens, John McSpirt, William Husta, Edwin Lindhurst and Warren Dawson. In the center are David Brower, Wilder Dawson, Anthony Fabiano, William DuBois, David Garrod and Raymond Lawrence. In the back row are Lawrence Cody and Junious Harris. Harold T. Bowers, play leader of Barmann Park, is shown in the rear center. (Freeman Photo).

Last night, a comparatively unknown New York City Ranger Five stole the spotlight with a 2854 performance, good enough for sixth place in the team standings, after being well on the way to the team lead.

Dodgers Purchase 2 From Redbirds

George Dockins Is Added to Mound Staff

More surplus playing material from the over-stocked piles of the St. Louis Cardinals was turned loose Friday when the Brooklyn Dodgers announced the purchase of George Dockins, a lefthanded pitcher, and Otis Davis, an outfielder, from the Redbird club. Both are expected to arrive from St. Louis today but will not play with the Dodgers against the Giants at Ebbets Field this afternoon.

Dockins won eight and lost six for St. Louis last season. He is 29-years-old, stands five feet eleven inches and weighs 175 pounds. He is a native from Clyde, Kan. Davis, who is expected to add a little more reserve strength for Lippy Durocher's rookie outfield, batted .350 with Allentown last year before going up to Rochester in the International League. HAPPY EASTER!

Easter is more than a ceremony, more than a festival. It is a time when Nature awakes, when all things are made new, when human beings suddenly arise and look up and around them, and suddenly realize after the long winter and slow spring that "God's in his heaven" and by that same token "all's right with the world."

That is, when men are sensitive and wise enough to yield to the spirit of Easter, which makes all things new, even as Nature does in her thousand ways. It is a time when God and Man and Nature seem to cooperate to make the best of possible worlds. Resting for a moment from trouble, toil and confusion people gain strength by entering into the spirit of new life and happiness.
"This is the day which the Lord hath made; Let us rejoice and be glad therein!"

FOOD COLLECTION

The nationwide Emergency Food Collection on behalf of U.N.R.R.A. will be launched May 12. Raymond H. Rignall, who has been chairman of salvage of war materials and clothing collections here, will continue his services for the food drive in this city.

In the coming drive, we will be asked to share our food with the war victims overseas who have less than enough food to live on. The campaigns that brought us victory brought destruction to the lands where they were fought. Because of that, and because of the worst drought in a quarter of a century, their food production is lower this year than at any time during the war.

The canned food contributed to the Emergency Food Collection will be distributed on the basis of need, without discrimination of any kind and without cost to the recipient. Money contributed will be utilized only for the purchase of food. No deductions are made from contributions for operating costs.

National Chairman Henry A. Wallace says there is overwhelming evidence that the American people want to give direct and personal assistance to these victims of war. The Emergency Food Collection is the expression of that will in a practical action program.

We don't like to complain, but about this time of year Mother Nature can't seem to make up her mind about what time of the year it is.

CITY INCOME TAXES

Income taxes of any kind in this country are unpopular, and therefore interesting. Toledo, Ohio, has just approved of a one percent payroll income tax by a slender majority—for the ordinance, 37,985 and against it, 32,682. It is estimated that the revenue derived from it will reach $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 a year. The funds will be used to liquidate or finance depression relief area debts, capital improvements, expanding fire and police and recreational facilities, and other city improvements. To pay for them, everybody living or working or doing business in the city will be obliged to pay the city one percent of his earnings.

This seems to be a rather simple way for any city to raise money, for any desired purpose. Perhaps too simple. At any rate, many of the citizens think so. It is an open question whether it is a good thing for any city to have financial system which makes it easy to levy and collect money. Probably thrifty citizens anywhere will prefer to make it hard.

Never mind Ribbentrop saying we forced the war—he's just ribbing us.

FORBIDDEN BOOK

The issue of unified control of military services, so hotly debated a few weeks ago, has been revived again by a pre-publication war between an author, William Huie, and the Navy Department. Huie's book, "The Case Against the Admirals," to be brought out by E. P. Dutton & Co., was banned at the newsstands of a Washington hotel by the Navy Department in a 24-page protest claiming numerous errors. Mr. Huie, whose book is subtitled, "Why We Must Have Unified

LILIES IN OUR MEMORY

Of course, we shall wear our Easter bonnets and walk in the Easter parade, having been to Church to partake of the spirit of the day. The war is over and life goes on. In fact, even while the war was in course, the Easter parade on Fifth Avenue was gay and cheering. It is Spring and the flowers are beginning to bloom.

That is the story of man. Each generation lives its own resurrection. It dies a thousand deaths. It is always going to the dogs. It is never like the one that went before. Yet, man continues, hoping, dreaming, planning and plotting, marrying and creating new families. It is the resilience of the human race that makes it so marvelous. Hope springs eternal. And the atomic bomb will change none of it. For man will adjust to atomic fission as he has adjusted to steam, electricity and electronics. Man split the atom and he will harness it. He will do with it what he has done with radium; he has taken the poisons of the vegetables and minerals and turned them into healing and life-giving properties.

Man is a miraculous creature, particularly in the Spring, when the spirit of the resurrection waters his soul. He can not only dream but he can make his dreams come true. He traverses the world through the air in what amounts to minutes of time as compared with other years because his mind, his reason, masters what the birds and beasts can only do by instinct. His work is the product of his thought.

Miracles! The world is filled with miracles. There is the miracle of streptomycin and the miracle of penicillin, of plastics, of the atom. And these miracles are not the things themselves but they are that man possesses mind and will. Today, having become spiritually over-stimulated, we call the results of man's noblest and most miraculous inspirations, science, and set it apart as something without a soul.

Jesus said:
"For verily I say unto you, whosoever shall say unto this mountain, 'Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea'; and shall not doubt in his heart, but shall believe that those things which he saith shall come to pass; he shall have whatsoever he saith. Therefore I say unto you, what things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them. And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses."

And that, of course, is the greatest miracle of all—the willingness of man to play fair, to be just, to forgive, even to forget. Without that we should be like beasts in the fields, one preying upon the other, clawing and chewing and hating endlessly without reason or right but because we pursue vicious instincts. It is the miracle of goodness that really saves the human race from its own banalities. It is the miracle of a moral life that frees us from the beastliness of a biologic life.

And that, of course, is what Easter has always really meant, for the story it tells is of goodness, of a life spent in goodness, that was lost and resurrected for goodness. For it is good to be charitable, to have faith, to feed the hungry, to give oneself to an ideal, to build hospitals and to care for the sick, the weary, and the miserable. And we do that—we Americans. We do it objectively, for those who are dear and near to us and for those who are distant and whom we may not even like. We do it for friend and foe. We are, in our hearts, a good people.

And so we move among our neighbors on Easter Day, in the friendly Spring sun, in good cheer, in the spirit of liberty and of decent living, not to save our virtue but certain of our intentions, a religious people in the sense that we walk not alone but with our God.

TUBERCULOSIS

Less than forty years ago tuberculosis stood first as a cause of death; today it is well down on the list among the causes of death. Today the death rate from tuberculosis is only one-seventh of what it was just thirty-five years ago. The reason for this is the vigorous fight the National Tuberculosis Association and other organizations have made to rid our and other countries of this "white plague."

The outstanding and gratifying point about this successful fight against tuberculosis is that the largest relative decreases in deaths from tuberculosis occurred in childhood and early life, which means that thousands who formerly died, now live and make their contributions to the world. For example, among white males in the ages between 5 and 35 the drop in the death rate from tuberculosis was more than 90 per cent but at 65 to 74 years the decrease was 52 per cent.

Among the measures used to fight tuberculosis is the X-ray which, "provided a new and indispensable weapon in the fight against tuberculosis, one which laid the foundation for the present practice of finding cases through mass surveys." The number of unsuspected cases of tuberculosis found by mass surveys in the army—the choice of our population from the physical standpoint—means that many industrial institutions and whole communities are, and will continue giving an X-ray examination of the entire factory or community.

Just in case we may feel that the victory over tuberculosis is complete and we may tend to relax our efforts in fighting this disease we read in the statistical bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company:

"The organized effort to control tuberculosis among American wage-earners and their families during the past thirty-five years has been eminently successful, but it is still far short of its goal which is the complete disappearance of tuberculosis from the earth."

Now that institutions and government health departments are equipped to find and treat tuberculosis anywhere and everywhere, complete victory over tuberculosis may not be long in coming.

The Common Cold

Never neglect the common cold as it may often be the forerunner of other more dangerous conditions. Send ten cents and a three-cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing to The Bell Library, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y., and ask for your copy of the Barton booklet entitled "The Common Cold."

Control," says he was urged to suppress it as a patriotic duty by Vice Admiral Arthur W. Bradford, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Air. Instead, he says he will turn back all royalties and push the book's sale.

There is no better way of whetting public interest in any subject than by banning it. That "Case Against the Admirals" may become a best-seller. The idea of unified command has been given a recent boost by President Truman, and the idea that anyone wanted to ban a book about it is likely to inspire people to try to find out why.

STAMPS in the NEWS

AP Features

One of the most attractive sets of stamps to reach this country in some time is the Vatican City's new 14 bi-colored stamp set commemorating the 400th anniversary of the opening of the Council of Trent, important conclave of the Roman Catholic Church.

Opened in December, 1545, in the then Austrian city of Trent (now Trento), the Council was in session, with recesses of two to ten years intervening, until 1563. The Council fixed the faith and practice of the Roman church in relation to the Protestant Evangelical churches and introduced numerous reforms. The date and designation of the Council is inscribed on each of the stamps in Latin "Concilium Oecumenicum XIX Idibus Dec MDXLV Initium Tridenti" (19th Ecumenical Council Began December 1545 at Trent). Except for the five-cent stamp, which pictures the Church of Santa Maria Maggiore, scene of most of the Council sessions, the stamps picture famous participants in the conference. The portraits are in oval baroque frames. Bands over them bear the names and titles of the personage.

At the lower part of the frame is a coat of arms or the symbol of the subject's rank. Values, colors and the personages pictured on these Vatican City stamps are: 25-c purple and brown, Saint Angela de Merici, who founded the Ursulines, a religious order; 50-c bistre and brown, St. Anthony Maria Zaccaria; 75-c black and brown, St. Ignatius of Loyola; 1-lira purple and brown, St. Cajetan of Thiene; 1.50-L red-orange and brown, St. John Baptist Cardinal Fisher, Bishop of Rochester; 2-L green and brown, Christopher Cardinal Madruzzo, Prince-Bishop of Trent; 2.50-L blue and brown, Reginald Cardinal Pole.

Three-lira red and brown, Marcellus Cardinal Cervini, who later became Pope Marcellus II; 4-L bistre and brown, Gian Maria Cardinal Ciochetti del Monte, who became Pope Julius III in 1550; 5-L ultramarine and brown, Emperor Charles V, and 10-L rose-red and brown, Pope Paul III, who called the Council into session.

Two special delivery stamps of horizontal format complete the set.

A green and brown 6-L picture of Gian Matteo Giberti, Bishop of Verona. Gaspar Cardinal Contarini appears on the 12-L light and dark brown value.

This set previously was erroneously reported as picturing Cardinals created last February by Pope Pius XII.

One of the first acts of a nation occupying land outside its borders is to issue postage stamps identifying the territory within its control. Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans followed this tradition when they occupied the Italian city of Fiume in May, 1945. At least six stamps of the Mussolini-sponsored Italian Social Republic were immediately surcharged with Yugoslav symbols and new values. Illustrated here is one of the overprints which consists of the date "3 V 1945," the words "Fiume" and its Croatian equivalent, "Rijeka," and a Partisan star over a rising sun.

Similar steps were taken by Marshal Tito's forces to provide appropriate stamps to mark their occupation of disputed Trieste and Istria. Walter and Walfredo Toscanini of New York report that 11 of the Mussolini Republic stamps were overprinted "I. V. 1945 Trieste Trst" for use in Trieste and 14 were overprinted with the word "Istria" and new values for Istria.

Easter Thoughts

One of the main features one observes seems to be the getting of new outfits in celebration of this significantly symbolic feast.

No out of date or shabby garments must be worn and up to the minute headgear are considered an absolute necessity to do justice to so solemn an occasion. So much for the outer man; but what about the inner man? Unless we lay aside with determination our old and truly shabby ideas in dealing with crucified humanity and replace them with nobler, broader thoughts, imperative for the existing sad and dangerous conditions, we shall add nothing to the upliftment of suffering humanity.

Only as we assist in the resurrecting of our fellowmen may we experience a definite sense of rising higher in the comprehension of the symbolic significance of Easter, the great event of love for all mankind.

"At Century's Turn"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

A petition signed by 53 of the merchants of North Front street asking that the name of the street be changed to Market street, was filed with the Common Council at its meeting August 2, 1927.

The filing of the petition caused considerable discussion among the aldermen, and it was finally tabled until a more suitable name than Market street could be selected.

The petition outlined four reasons why it was desired to change the name of the street. One was that other cities had Market streets, and why not this city; that the merchants had been spending large sums of money in improving their store properties; that the name North Front street really applied to a street bordering along a waterfront, which it did not; and that changing the name would not work a hardship or injustice to any other business section in the city.

Some of the aldermen believed that as long as 53 merchants had petitioned to change the name of the street that the council should take some action in the matter. Others believed that Market street was too common a name, and if a change was desired that a more appropriate one be selected.

It was pointed out that North Front street was one of the historic streets of the city, and had received its name because it formed the extreme end of the stockade that was erected around the new village to protect the inhabitants from sudden attacks from the Indians.

Some of the aldermen who did not favor the change believed that the street's historic name, with all its significance in the history of the city, should be retained.

I don't recall offhand whether the petition was ever taken from the table or not, but I do know that the name of North Front street remains unchanged to this day.

John H. Harrison, who served as the first superintendent of the Kingston water department, filed his resignation with the Board of Water Commissioners at a board meeting on August 4, 1927.

The resignation was accepted and the late Henry D. Darrow was named to succeed Mr. Harrison.

Mr. Harrison had been engaged in the water work system of the city for 40 years at the time he resigned. As a young man he went to work for the old private water company, which supplied the city with its water, and he continued with the water works when the city took them over and placed the jurisdiction of them in the hands of a Board of Water Commissioners.

It was on Wednesday, August 3, 1927, that President Calvin Coolidge issued his famous statement, "I do not choose to run for president in 1928" that set the whole country talking.

TODAY'S GARDEN GRAPH

Don't Let Lilacs Lead Double Lives

By DEAN MALLOY
Released by Central Press Association

WHEN suckers start growing out from the rootstock, lilacs can be said to be leading double lives, and this should be curbed. The accompanying Garden-Graph shows shoots of privet that are commonly found at the root of lilacs that are left to shift for themselves.

These thorny suckers should be cut off as close to the root as possible. They spring from unimproved root stock and are very objectionable since they take strength from the bush which should go to making more and better flower heads.

When purchasing a new lilac bush seek to obtain "own root" grown stock instead of that which has been budded or grafted on common lilac or privet.

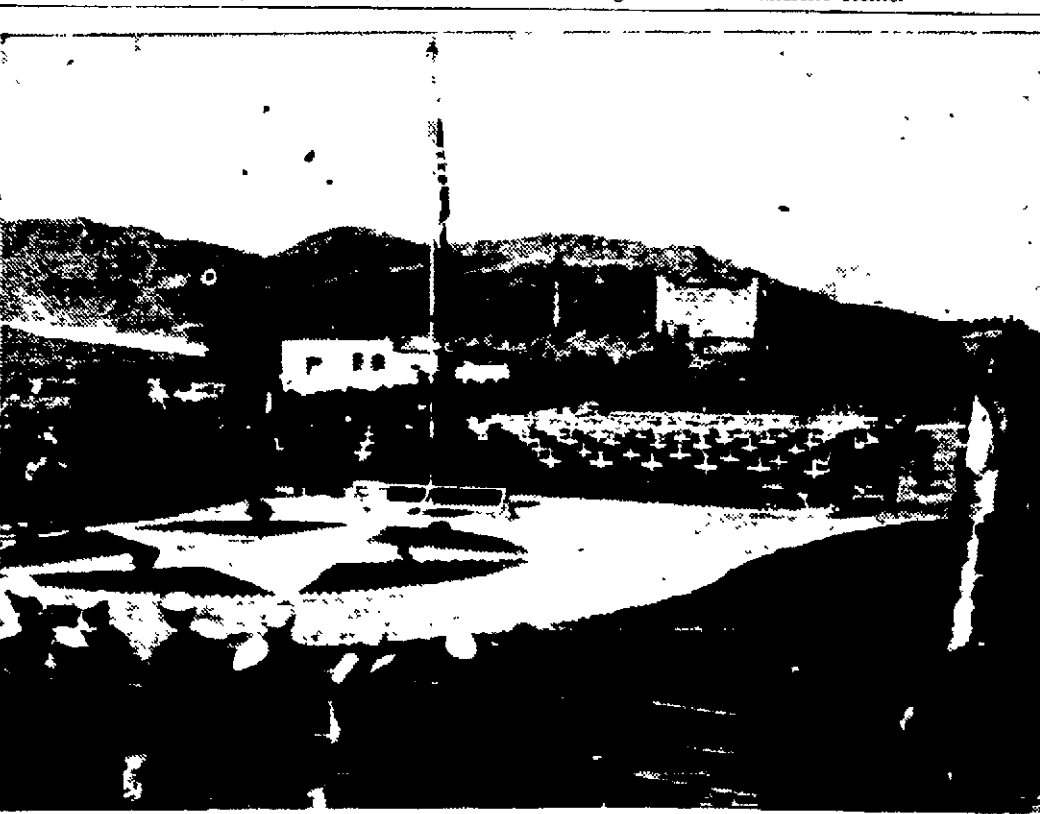

Also, lilacs should not be permitted to become too head strong. This means that when the flower heads of lilac bushes have faded they should be carefully cut off.

To allow lilacs to use their energy in forming roots is a mistake, for this energy should be utilized to promote new growth for next year's bloom.

Care must be used, however, in "beheading" lilacs. The accompanying illustration shows the proper place to remove the dead-up flowers.

As shown by the arrow, cut off the dead lilac blossoms just below the flower head.

From two to four new flower shoots will develop at the point where the old flower heads were cut off. These shoots will provide next year's bloom.

Baby Camel Becomes
Hollywood Issue at Law

Hollywood, April 20 (AP)—Kismet is only a month old, but already he's an issue at law.
Kismet is the son of Ruby. Ruby is the camel which was a featured performer in Ken Murray's
"blackouts," the variety show which has been running on Vine street since away back when.
Ruby surprised everyone by foaling Kismet a few hours after one of her performances. The cast didn't know she was even expecting.
Now I. S. (Trader) Horn, who operates the world jungle compound, contends that Ruby was leased to Murray and that Kismet met, or a facsimile consisting of $1350 in cash, is his property.
Murray's answer was unofficial.
He said Ruby would be returned to the compound August 1, when her lease is up, but:
"By the beard of the prophet,
Kismet's another matter."

Quick and Moore Join Regular Army

Two Kingston youths, one with a brilliant World War 2 record, have enlisted in the regular army, Capt. Harry W. Smith, local recruiting officer, announced yesterday.

Granville Patrick Quick, Jr., a navy veteran with 32 months service to his credit, has transferred his allegiance to the U. S. Army for a regular three-year hitch. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Quick, 146 Smith avenue.

The other enlistee is Robert E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, of 24 Gill street.

Pvt. Quick chose the European theatre as his place of duty, and the Transportation Corps for his duty assignment.

"The reason I want to join the army at this time is that there is nothing for me to do in Kingston," Quick said upon being sworn in. "I feel the army has a lot to offer me in the way of security at the present time."

Assigned to the battleship Tennessee, Private Quick served in the battle for the Philippines, Marshall Islands, Gilberts, Okinawa, Saipan, Tinian, Palau and Angua. He was wounded in the Angua campaign.

"My toughest spot was in the Philippines engagement when a Japanese suicide plane crashed on the quarter deck of the Tennessee," Quick said yesterday. "Seventy-five men were killed in the explosion that followed. This all happened on April 12, 1945, the day on which President Roosevelt died."

The Tennessee, Quick said, was credited with destroying 17 enemy planes, one battleship and two smaller craft. Private Quick's crew was awarded the presidential unit citation for meritorious action.

Private Moore, formerly employed as a shipping clerk at the Pilgrim Furniture Co., signed for 18 months and will report to Fort Dix for processing. The military tradition is strong in the Moore family, his father having served with the 9th Air Force in this war. Pvt. Moore's older brother, Clinton, was a member of the 35th Division and saw service during the "Battle of the Bulge", and at present is on guard duty in France.

Controversy Expected On Shidehara Cabinet

Tokyo, April 20 (AP)—Authoritative Japanese said today that a crisis is expected next week in the enlarging controversy over whether the Shidehara cabinet should remain in office.

They agreed anything could happen—including possible disqualification of Ichiro Hatoyama, Liberal Party president—as the battle for power continues.

Hatoyama, whose record is under scrutiny by both the Japanese government and the Allied command, suddenly has grown silent. But his supporters and officials of the Socialist, Cooperative and Communist parties called a mass meeting April 28 to demand the premier's resignation. Major labor unions and other organizations have been invited.

Federation Softball League Will Open Season Tuesday, May 7

Nine Churches Are Entered in Loop; First Since 1942

Edsil Flowers Again Head of Local Circuit; Keen Interest Is Voiced by Team Managers

With a field of nine clubs set to go, the first postwar Federal Softball League will get out from under the wire Tuesday evening, May 7, Edsil Flowers told The Freeman Thursday afternoon. "We're anticipating a lot of interest in this year's revival of the loop," Mr. Flowers declared "in view of the fact that this will be our first league competition since 1942."

The teams entered in this year's Federation League are First Presbyterians, Albany Avenue Baptist, Comforters, Trinity Lutheran, Port Ewen, St. James, Clinton Avenue, Fair Street and Congregational. At a recent meeting of the church circuit at which time governing rules for play were discussed, interest was voiced by all attending representatives.

Saints Defending Champs
The St. James softball aggregation is the defending loop champion from 1942 when the league was abandoned due to the influx of players going off to war. The return to pre-war rivalry is expected to flare back into the Federation League this summer with such strong clubs as the Presbyterians, Baptists, Comforters, Lutherans, Fair Street and Clinton Avenue in the fold with their war veterans holding down positions on the various combines.

Edsil Flowers, who is acting as commissioner for this season, said Thursday that the league will operate in two halves with the winner of the first half playing a series of three games with the winner of the second round for the season championship. The first round runs up until Thursday, July 4, when Trinity Lutheran and Congregational meet at Loughran Park and St. James engages the Presbyterians at Barmann Park.

Starting time of all games in the league has been set for 6:30 o'clock with a leeway of 15 minutes. If the game hasn't started by 6:45 o'clock a forfeit will result. Following is the schedule for the first half of the Federation Softball League:

Washington Pitching Staff Early-Season Disappointment

Nats Use 14 Assorted Hurlers in 4 Games to Date, All in Loss Column

By JOE REICHLER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
Washington's vaunted pitching staff which kept the 1945 Senators in the pennant race until the final day and which was expected to be the team's most potent weapon this year, has turned out to be one of the biggest early-season disappointments of the current campaign.

No Complete Games
Because of the return from military service of such former standouts as Sid Hudson, Walter Masterson and Rae Scarborough to aid holdovers Roger Wolff, a 20-game winner last year, Dutch Leonard, who won 17 games, Mickey Vernon and Marino Bertetti, 16 and 14 game winners respectively, the capital city hurling corps was rated even stronger this year than last. But it not only has failed to produce a winning pitcher in each of the team's four games played to date, it hasn't even one complete game to its credit.

Wolff and Scarborough have managed to stagger through seven rounds, but Masterson and Haefner, the other two starters, each has failed to last more than two frames. In all, Manager Ossie Bluege has been forced to call upon 14 assorted tossers, who in four games have been slugged for 46 hits, 20 of them for extra bases, and have given up 25 walks, an average of more than six per game.

54,826 See Yanks Win
Yesterday's game against the New York Yankees, the day's only scheduled contest, was a perfect example. With a crowd of 54,826 fans looking on in the refurbished Yankee Stadium, five Washington hurlers helped the Bronx Bombers make a successful home debut by issuing five passes, hitting two batsmen, making a wild pitch and yielding a dozen safe blows good for 18 total bases. The net result was a Yankee victory by a 7-6 margin, the New Yorkers' winning run coming in the first half of the ninth inning when Johnny Lindell scored Tommy Henrich with a long fly ball after Joe DiMaggio had tied the score with a run-scoring double. Haefner started on the mound for the Nats but was derailed at the end of the second after the Yankees had tied off on his southern slants for six hits and four runs in the second frame. DiMaggio's double and Lindell's second homey in two days were the most damaging blows.

Leonard Goes Today
Masterson held the Nats to only one run in the next four stanzas and was followed on the hill by Pieretti, Vern Curtis and Johnny Niggeling in that order, with Niggeling being charged with the defeat. The Nats had waged a stubborn uphill battle which finally put them ahead 5-4 in the eighth when they combined two hits, a pair of walks and an error by Yankee Catcher Bill Dickey for two runs.

Bluege was pinning his hopes today on the 36-year-old Leonard to put them on the winning side of the ledger for the first time. Leonard, only Nat pitcher not yet called upon this season is slated to face the Yankees in the second of a three game series.

In Track Debut
Arcadia, Calif., April 20 (AP)—L. K. Shapiro's Adios, the 1945 field racing champion, makes his debut today in Santa Anita's first Saturday program of harness racing. Adios goes in a six-furlong free-for-all with a $3,000 purse, against such notables as King's Counsel, Brown Prince, Victory, Purdue, Cisco and Guy.

Better Golf By SAM SNEAD

Today we picture the front view which again shows the "dog leg" which we discussed yesterday. As the hands pass a bit higher from the position shown you should slowly start the wrist cocking action. But remember I said slowly—not rapidly. The hands should not reach the fully cocked position until the hands are ear high which means that the club shaft then will be about parallel with the ground. If the hands were fully cocked at the position shown in today's picture the player would find it an almost irresistible tendency to start uncocking them at the top. Uncocking the hands while they are high in the air results in the powerful lash and force they can add to the club-head speed being expended in empty air for no good. But if you start uncocking the hands when they have reached the position in the downswing pictured here then the lash, the speed they add to the clubhead will reach its maximum when the clubhead smacks the ball. Obviously power expended anywhere else is meaningless for yardage, distance, control. (Protected by John F. Dille Co.)

Getting Stadium Ready for Season

With the opening of the 1946 baseball season only a matter of weeks away for local ball clubs, "Chuck" Davis, veteran groundskeeper, and Johnny Tomshaw have been getting the municipal stadium into shape for the last few weeks. Thursday the two city workers were busy engaged in getting the pitcher's mound in shape, one part of the diamond which will be seeing plenty of action this summer. In the above photo Davis is shown in the roller while Tomshaw is seen lining off the tape on the pitcher's box. Extensive work already has been done on the stadium infield and outfield grass and according to Davis, the uptown ball orchard is just about ready for local athletes to take over. The Kingston High School baseball team is due to open its training at the stadium Monday afternoon. (Freeman Photo.)

Kites Get Test for Coming Meet

Boys from the Barmann Park section gave their homemade kites a last minute test Friday afternoon in preparation for the coming Kite Flying Meet which is scheduled for the municipal stadium Saturday, April 27. In the above photo some of the boys are shown who could get their kites down long enough to have their picture taken by The Freeman photographer. In the front row in the usual order are Charles Parks, Donald Havens, John McSpirt, William Husta, Edwin Lindhurst and Warren Dawson. In the center are David Brower, Wilder Dawson, Anthony Fabiano, William DuBois, David Garrod and Raymond Lawrence. In the back row are Lawrence Cody and Junious Harris. Harold T. Bowers, play leader of Barmann Park, is shown in the rear center. (Freeman Photo.)

The Brass Foundry keggers of Poughkeepsie took first place in the tournament to date last weekend with a 3239 team triple while another Poughkeepsie squad, the Central Hudson combine, finished second with 3218. The Brass Foundry trundlers had a 257-run handicap to pile up the 3239 total.

Following the two Bridge City squads, the Empire Flippers of Newburgh rolled into third last week with 3206 while Mt. Marion of Saugerties had 3202, and Paving Laundry posted 3148 to complete the first five.

Chicago Stylist Hopes to Regain Bowling Technique

Buddy Bomar, Ex-World Match-Game Champion, Due to Roll in A.B.C. Tournament Today

Buffalo, N. Y., April 20 (AP)—Buddy Bomar, Chicago stylist and former world match-game champion was expected to use the American Bowling Congress' tournament today as a proving ground in his bid for a comeback in match-game honors.

One of the sports most graceful bowlers, Bomar was scheduled to roll with the White Shirt Cologne Classic team which has close to a 1000 home average. Observers say this squad has a chance to go into the tournament five-man lead.

Last night, a comparatively unknown New York City Ranger Five stole the spotlight with a 2954 performance, good enough for sixth place in the team standings, after being well on the way to the team lead.

Freleigh Cancels Sunday's Workout

Governor Clintons to Meet at 'Y' on Tuesday

The Gov. Clinton Market baseball team will not drill Sunday afternoon as originally scheduled. Manager Jim Freleigh told The Freeman Friday. "I've called off that scheduled workout," Jim announced, "in view of Sunday being Easter, but we'll resume work next Sunday afternoon in preparation for our opening game."

Dodgers Purchase 2 From Redbirds

George Dockins Is Added to Mound Staff

More surplus playing material from the over-stocked piles of the St. Louis Cardinals was turned loose Friday when the Brooklyn Dodgers announced the purchase of George Dockins, a lefthanded pitcher, and Otis Davis, an outfielder, from the Redbird club. Both are expected to arrive from St. Louis today but will not play with the Dodgers against the Giants at Ebbets Field this afternoon.

Dockins won eight and lost six for St. Louis last season. He is 29-years-old, stands five feet eleven inches and weighs 175 pounds. He is a native from Clyde, Kan. Davis, who is expected to add a little more reserve strength for Lippy Durocher's rookie outfield, batted .350 with Allentown last year before going up to Rochester in the International League. He is from Charleston, Ark., and is six feet, one inch tall and tips the scales at 168 pounds.

A banquet was being given by a very prominent Scotchman back in the old days when liquid refreshments were more plentiful than at present, and as the guests were being seated and served, the honor guest made a complete round of the table saying goodbye to all of his friends. When asked why he was leaving so soon, he replied: Honor Guest—I am saying goodbye while I know you.

Flashes of Life

Sketched in Brief

Double Date

New York, April 20 (AP)—A Brooklyn mother and daughter will celebrate their golden anniversary wedding anniversaries tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. William Weese were married in New York on April 21, 1896 and 25 years later to the day their daughter, Irene, married George Schmitt in Brooklyn.

"Wild" West

Albuquerque, N. M., April 20 (AP)—Law enforcement problems of this atomic age are becoming strangely reminiscent of the old west.

First, nightwatchman Roy Brand reported to police that "rustlers" made off with his horse while it was hitched to a signpost. Then came a call to round up a small herd of cattle roaming a residential district undisturbed. The cops have decided they may have to saddle up their ponies and organize a posse any day now.

Hang-Up Affair

San Diego, Calif., April 20 (AP)—To all who asked how they happened to meet and fall in love, Eddie Wechsler and Marguerite Bennet explained at their wedding that "we just ran into each other a couple of years ago."

Their automobiles collided, fuller explanation disclosed.

Political Gusto

Inglewood, Calif., April 20 (AP)—You just can't throttle a politician. The Chamber of Commerce invited 28 candidates for various offices to discuss their aims. It set a limit of three minutes per speaker with fines for violators.

The treasurer collected $38.25.

Pecking Pest

Chicago, April 20 (AP)—Villagers in suburban Barrington have discovered there is nothing eerie about the strange, rhythmic rattling and tapping that has aroused some of them at dawn for several weeks.

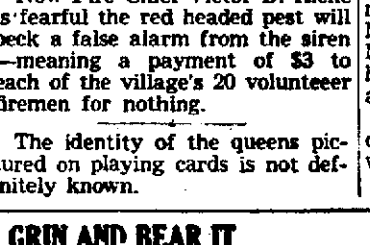

The tapping was traced to the village hall and after days of spying investigators sighted the ratter, a woodpecker pecking diligently upon the tin cover of the fire siren of the roof.

Now Fire Chief Victor D. Rieke is fearful the red headed pest will peck a false alarm from the siren—meaning a payment of $3 to each of the village's 20 volunteer firemen for nothing.

The identity of the queens pictured on playing cards is not definitely known.

Baby Camel Becomes
Hollywood Issue at Law

Hollywood, April 20 (AP)—Kismet is only a month old, but already he's an issue at law.

Kismet is the son of Ruby. Ruby is the camel which was a featured performer in Ken Murray's "blackouts," the variety show which has been running on Vine street since early last winter.

Ruby surprised everyone by foaling Kismet a few hours after one of her performances. The cast didn't know she was even expecting.

Now I. S. (Trader) Horn, who operates the world jungle compound, contends that Ruby was leased to Murray and that Kismet, or a facsimile consisting of $1300 in cash, is his property.

Murray's answer was unofficial. He said Ruby would be returned to the compound August 1, when her lease is up, but:

"By the beard of the prophet, Kismet's another matter."

Quick and Moore Join Regular Army

Two Kingston youths, one with a brilliant World War 2 record, have enlisted in the regular army, Capt. Harry W. Smith, local recruiting officer, announced yesterday.

Granville Patrick Quick, Jr., a navy veteran with 32 months service to his credit, has transferred his allegiance to the U. S. Army for a regular three-year hitch. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Granville Quick of 146 Smith avenue.

The other enlistee is Robert E. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, of 24 Gill street.

Pvt. Quick chose the European theatre as his place of duty, and the Transportation Corps for his duty assignment.

"The reason I want to join the army at this time is that there is nothing for me to do in Kingston," Quick said upon being sworn in. "I feel the army has a lot to offer me in the way of security at the present time."

Assigned to the battleship Tennessee, Private Quick served in the battle for the Philippines, Marshall Islands, Gilberts, Okinawa, Saipan, Tinian, Palau and Angua campaign.

"My toughest spot was in the Philippines engagement when a Japanese suicide plane crashed on the quarter deck of the Tennessee," Quick said yesterday. "Seventy-five men were killed in the explosion that followed. This all happened on April 12, 1945, the day on which President Roosevelt died."

The Tennessee, Quick said, was credited with destroying 17 enemy planes, one battleship and two smaller craft. Private Quick's crew was awarded the Presidential unit citation for meritorious action.

Private Moore, formerly employed as a shipping clerk at the Pilgrimage Furniture Co., signed for 18 months and will report to Fort Dix for processing. The military tradition is strong in the Moore family, his father having served with the 9th Air Force in this war. Pvt. Moore's older brother, Clinton, was a member of the 35th Division and saw service during the "Battle of the Bulge," and at present is on guard duty in France.

Controversy Expected On Shidehara Cabinet

Tokyo, April 20 (AP)—Authoritative Japanese said today that a crisis is expected next week in the enlarging controversy over whether the Shidehara cabinet should remain in office.

They agreed anything could happen—including possible disqualification of Ichiro Hatoyama, Liberal Party president—as the battle for power continues.

Hatoyama, whose record is under scrutiny by both the Japanese government and the Allied command, suddenly has grown silent. But his supporters and officials of the Socialist, Cooperative and Communist parties called a mass meeting April 28 to demand the premier's resignation. Major labor unions and other organizations have been invited.

Premier Shidehara still stood by his statement that he would not resign. The Japanese press reported he would accept the resignation of Welfare Minister Hitoshi Ashida, a Liberal Party member, and appoint Home Minister Chujo Mitsuichi as Ashida's temporary successor. Mitsuichi apparently would hold his present position.
